Vo-Tech center to be dedicated

HOWARDVILLE— Dedication ceremonies will be held Aug. 19 at the new $2.3 million vocational- technical skills center in New Madrid County R- 1 enlarged school district, according to an announcement by the board of education.

The ultra- modern educational facility is on an 80- acre tract at the junction of Interstate 55 Howardville interchange and Highway 61.

Classes at the new school will open at the beginning of the 1973- 74 school term.

Designed in two circular pods, the school contains 101,800 square feet and has facilities for more than 20 classrooms, shops, laboratory, resource center and auxiliary facilities.

For the initial opening term, 14 courses will be available to area students. These include air conditioning and refrigeration, electronics, business data processing, secretarial science, general business (machines), accounting, health occupations, institutional foods, welding technology, graphic occupations, auto body and fender, auto mechanics, building trades and agricultural mechanics.

District high school students from the New Madrid, Matthews, Lilbourn, Parma and Portageville units will be transported to the new facility for half- day instruction. They will then return to their home school for the remainder of the day.

Construction and equipment costs were financed by $1.1 million school district bonds and a $1,624,000 grant from the Economic Development Administration.

Construction of the school was begun in August of 1971 by Brown Construction Co. of Dexter.

Donnellan and Porterfield of Poplar Bluff were the architects.

Time of the dedication program is to be announced later by the school board.

Charleston woman given 10 years

CHARLESTON — Mrs. Carolyn Linda Butler, 26, of Charleston, found guilty of second degree murder in a jury trial June 6, was formerly sentenced Wednesday to 10 years in the state penetentiary by Circuit Judge Marshall Craig.

Mrs. Butler was convicted of the Dec. 7, 1972 shooting death of Mrs. Gertha Draper also of Charleston. Motions for a new trial and probation by defense counsel were overruled by Judge Craig, who gave Mrs. Butler credit for four days spent in jail.

A charge of issuing a fraudulent check brought a $100 fine and a sentence of one year in the county jail to Dennis Howell. Howell was charged with passing a $10 check at the Friendly Market in East Prairie on Aug. 6, 1972. He was given credit for 40 spent in jail prior to sentencing.

James Edward Allen was granted a divorce from Mabel Allen.

Home burglarized; truck items stolen

Police today were investigating a burglary at the Ross Lemons home, 1002 N.Ranney, and the theft of several items from a pickup truck belonging to Mrs. Lorraine Simson of Route Two, Box 24.

Police said a watch valued at $250 was taken sometime between June 25 and last Sunday from the Lemons home while Mr. and Mrs. Lemons were in Mississippi. The theft was reported Thursday.

The watch belonged to Mrs. Betty Satlupki, who is employed at the home. She reportedly bought the watch as a gift for her son.

Entry was apparently gained through a window.

A thief took $11 and several items from a purse in the Simson truck between 9 and 10 a.m. Thursday while it was parked at the Jaycee swimming pool on Taylor Street.

Besides the cash, three blank checks, two credit cards and some personal items were taken from the purse.

MALDEN — Sparrell W. Davis, president of the Malden Chamber of Commerce; Charles Royal, vice president; and W. M. "Bill" Johnson, secretary - treasurer, were installed Thursday night at the annual Chamber of Commerce Banquet in the Chat N' Chew Restaurant.

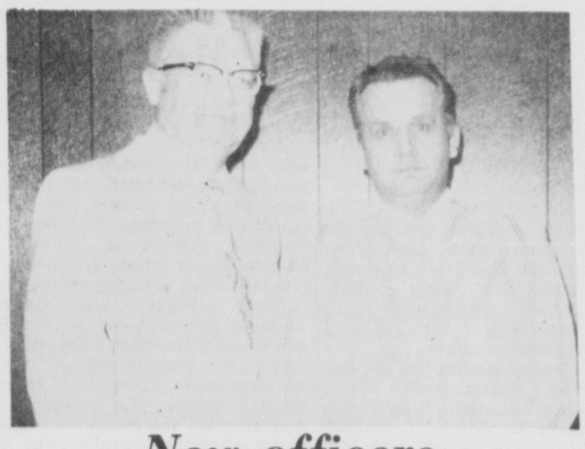

Sen. William J. Cason of Clinton, who represents Missouri's 31st Senatorial District and was guest speaker for the event, commended the progress of the city of Malden and discussed two bills recently passed in the Missouri Legislature.

Cason, a native of Higginsville, has a law practice in Clinton. He was elected unanimously by his fellow senators to serve as president pro tem of the Senate.

The first bill Cason discussed was one which states that insurance companies can no longer cancel an insurance policy unless the policyholder has a revoked or suspended license or fails to pay premiums.

The other recently passed bill he discussed gives an individual three days in which to change his mind regarding the purchase of merchandise sold door to door after signing a contract, with a written notice to be submitted within three days after the date of signing.

The 1973-74 chamber board of directors includes R. V. Beall Jr., V. H. Watson, Bill Stuart, H. A. McConnell, Gordon Waller and Jim Weithan.

Bond is opposed to Steele prison

MALDEN, Mo. (AP) — Rehabilitation is the biggest priority of Missouri's corrections system, and that is why he opposed construction of a maximum security prison at Steele, Gov. Christopher S. Bond said today.

Bond met with the Bootheel Regional Planning Commission in Malden.

"I think in today's society our highst priority in the criminal justice field should be rehabilitation and the prevention of criminal repeaters," Bond said. "Secondly, I think a rural location would further compound the mistake of constructing another maximum security institution in Missouri."

Bond has proposed regional facilities in urban areas. They would be of medium or minimum security. Tentative work was done on a maximum security facility at Steele under the administration of former Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, but plans were abandoned last fall.

Bond said he still was concerned about the economic development of the Bootheel area, and said the state Department of Community Affairs had approved federal grants of $24,000 for the Bootheel Planning Commission, $7,500 for the city of Sikeston and $4,500 for Hayti Heights. The grants will be matched with one-third as much in local funds.

Baby killed when car hits cyclists

A two- year- old Portageville boy was killed and his parents were injured Thursday night when their bicycles were struck by a car near Portageville, the highway patrol announced today. A 14- year- old Fredericktown girl, seriously injured in a fall from a moving pickup truck, was the only other person injured in area traffic Thursday.

Guy Grooms was killed at 8:45 p.m. on Highway 162 one mile east of Portageville when a car driven east by Johnny Coleman Walls Jr., 21, of Portageville came upon five bicycles in the road applied his brakes, skidded sideways and struck two of the bicycles which were knocked into mailboxes. The highway patrol said none of the bicycles had lights.

The child was riding on the back of a bicycle with his father, Dustin Guy Grooms, 29, of Portageville, who received a serious head injury and a broken left leg. The bicycle ridden by his mother, Carolyn Grooms, 30, was also struck and she suffered bruises and cuts and a possible broken right leg. They were taken to Pemiscot County Memorial Hospital in Hayti.

The names of the other bicycle riders were not disclosed.

Debra Sue Trammell, 14, of Fredericktown was seriously injured at 3:05 p.m. on Route A five miles south of Fredericktown when she slipped and fell from the bed of a pickup truck driven by Doyle Don Barron, 17, of Marquand.

Miss Trammell, 14, received severe cuts, bruises of the left arm and a possible back injury. She was taken to Madison County Memorial Hospital in Fredericktown.

Ramsey fires 5 Madrid deputies

NEW MADRID— New Madrid County Sheriff W. L. (Cowboy) Ramsey Thursday revoked commissions of one full- time deputy and four part- time deputies. Ramsey declined to elaborate on the action except to state, "There was dissention among the department. These people were not getting along."

Deputies released of duty were Walter Ivy of New Madrid, who has been a full- time officer with the sheriff's department since Feb. 1, 1963; Lilbourn city marshal Fred Rowe; New Madrid police officer Ronnie Adams; Risco city marshal Alfred Scott; and volunteer auxiliary officer Ralph Barnwell Jr. of New Madrid.

The part- time officers are paid $50 per month as special deputies and Barnwell was non- salaried.

Sheriff Ramsey said he had not made any new appointments and was not considering filling the vacancies at this time.

Mills to transfer here

POPLAR BLUFF-- Troop E. Commander Wayne C. Brooks of the highway patrol announced today the appointment of Sgt. A. E. Mills of Kennett as commander of Sikeston Zone Four, replacing Sgt. C. E. Harris, who is retiring July 31.

In mid- 1958, he left the Sikeston Police department and in October of the same year entered the highway patrol academy which was at that time located at Rolla. He graduated from the academy in December of 1958 and was stationed at Fredericktown for a training period as a trooper.

He was then transferred to Iron County where he served five years and later to Cape Girardeau for four years as a trooper. He came to Kennett in 1968 as a corporal and served for about one and one half years. He was then promoted to sergeant and head of the Kennett zone.

The Millses have three children, Terry, 18, Barbara, 15 and Dwight, 12.

Man electrocuted

SCOTT CITY— Danny Slinkard, 31, of Jackson Route One was accidently electrocuted Thursday at 9:45 a.m. while moving a 26 foot ladder, which was being used to help spray paint a building near Scott City.

Slinkard was in the process of moving the extension ladder that was leaning against the building. Part of the ladder was still touching the side of the building when a gust of wind caught the top of the ladder, throwing Slinkard and the ladder off balance. The ladder top came in contact with a 7,200 volt power line. Slinkard was knocked to the ground and all efforts to revive him by mouth- to- mouth resuscitation failed.

He was rushed to the Southeast Missouri Hospital in Cape Girardeau where he was pronounced dead at 11 a.m.

Slinkard was working with Lloyd Slinkard Painting Contractors, owned by his uncle, Lloyd Slinkard. Danny and his cousins, Mark and Michael Slinkard, had been contracted to spray paint the middle building for the Maumee Truck Leasing Company.

Slinkard was born in Cape Girardeau and was a veteran of the U. S. Navy. On April 15, 1967 he was married to Carolyn Ann Kirn, who survives.

Other survivors include two children, Stacy Lee Slinkard, and Darrin Wade Slinkard, both of the home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Norman Slinkard of Cape Girardeau; and one brother, Steve Slinkard of Cape Girardeau.

Funeral services are scheduled for 2 p.m. Saturday at Ford and Sons Funeral Home in Cape Girardeau with the Rev. Alois Steven, officiating.

Burial will follow in Memorial Park Cemetery in Cape Girardeau.

Pallbearers will be Keith Reed, Larry Childers, Ronnie Randol, Rodger Werheim, Forrest Slinkard, and Harold Richardson.

An editor friend writes that too many people in Washington just don't seem to catch onto the secret of high employment. It might be better to work for a little less than to continue crowded welfare rolls. Unemployment increased when the minimum was raised the last time, and it will increase when it is raised ... this time, because many employers find they can do without some of the extra help. This is especially so in small communities.

An astounding 93 per cent of returns filed this year," reports the Wall Street Journal, "contain incorrect or incomplete answers to a special question asking taxpayers to list their state, county, and incorporated town or township. The information is needed to parcel out revenue- sharing funds. Correcting the answers is slowing processing of tax refunds, the IRS says."

According to special news report, Sen. Sam Ervin (D.-N.C.), chairman of the select Watergate investigating committee, might do well by examining the strange hiring practices of his chief counsel, Samuel Dash. One of Dash's early hirelings was Harold K. Lipset, the panel's chief investigator who resigned in April after learning that the press was about to reveal his 1966 guilty plea to a misdemeanor in a New York case. The charges: Illegal electronic eavesdropping -- bugging.

Yet another odd duck still serving on the Ervin committee payroll is former OEO attorney Terry Lenzer, a defender of left- wing anti- war activist - priests, the Berrigan brothers, one of whom labeled the returned POWs as "war criminals." Lenzer, the Ervin panel's assistant chief counsel, was canned a few years back by the then OEO head Donald Rumsfeld for violating OEO rules governing legal aids for radicals. Lenzer had refused to de-fund radical anti- poverty groups using taxpayers' money to aid the Black Panthers and the SDS.

PREVENTIVE DENTISTRY

Plaque, a microscopic film that forms on the teeth, is the prime enemy of tooth longevity because it can lead to periodontal (gum) disease. And gum disease — not cavities — is the major single cause of tooth loss. "Preventive dentistry" means regular checkups and brushing with the right equipment. The best brush? Many dentists now recommend the use of a straight handled, soft- textured toothbrush. Soft, polished, end-rounded nylon bristles provide the "sweeping" action necessary to keep teeth healthy without irritating the tooth and gum surfaces. Fighting plaque with proper burshing and regular dental checkups is the key to healthy teeth and guns.

NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

It is easier to rehabilitate women than men mental patients, a study by the University of Missouri at St Louis has revealed. The chief reason, the study found, was that in returning to society men were expected to work at a job outside the home while most women could return to the less demanding role of housekeeping.

If you had all the gold in the world, how much storage space would you need? Well, it would cover a good-sized football stadium only a little more than a foot deep. And where is all that gold? Three-fifths of new supplies of gold are used by industry, chiefly to make jewelry. Some goes to dentists, but most of the rest is absorbed by hoarders and speculators throughout the world.

Persistence still pays. A survey by the National Retail Dry Goods Association found that 48 per cent of salesmen quit after making one unsuccessful call on a customer. But the survey also concluded that 88 per cent of the business went to the 12 per cent of salesman who made at least three or more calls.

The romantic singing gondoliers who ply the odorous 170 canals of Venice are going ... going ... but not quite gone. At one time there were more than 10,000 of these watergoing troubadors, but now there are fewer than 500. It costs about $3,000 to buy and decorate a hand-turned gondola. Most of the canals' passenger and cargo traffic is now carried by "stinkpots"—motorized craft.

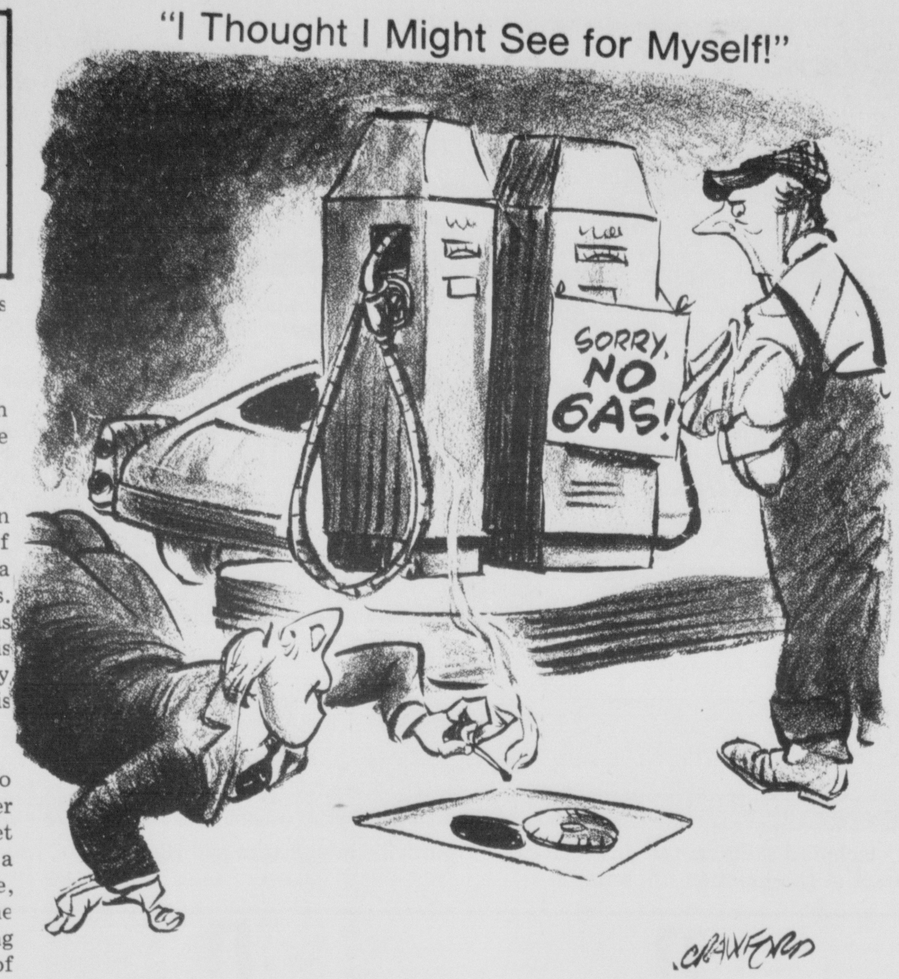

Forgotten heroines: Who was Nany Johnson? She invented the handcranked homemade ice cream freezer in 1846, but didn't patent it. Two years later, however, William G. Young did patent her basic invention, and it quickly made ice cream a dessert with mass appeal.

Today Americans eat an average of nearly six gallons of ice cream, ice milk, and sherbets a year. While factories turn out a billion gallons of it, a revival of homemade ice cream has been growing. Walter Johnson, a baseball immortal, often ate a quart of ice cream on days he pitched.

Worth remembering: "A lot of mothers are inclined to believe it would better if they gave themselves the vitamins—and the kids the tranquilizers."

It was playwright Henrik Ibsen who observed, "The greatest evil a man can do to himself is to be unjust to others."

WEIGHTS TAX INCREASE AGAINST CAPITAL NEEDS

The argument that income redistribution through government finance would — in the long run — produce more desirable results (particularly at low income levels) than the much broader benefits of private capital expansion was refuted by C. Lowell Harriss in an address before Tax Foundation's 24th National tax Conference.

The Columbia University professor of economics also inveighed against tax changes that would increase government revenues but reduce the ability to save.

Professor Harriss, economic consultant to the Foundation, said that among the 1970's capital needs is new investment of between $19 and $32 billion annually to provide production facilities that mean jobs for about 1.3 million new workers each year.

PUBLIC INSPECTION NOT FOR SENATORS

The U. S. Senate, as everyone knows, abhors hypersecrecy in government affairs. It does not like bureaucrats who do things behind Congress' back or civil servants who make their own rules or presidents who make decisions that constantly leave legislators locking barn doors after stolen horses.

It turns out, though, that the Senate is willing to make an occasional exception to the general rule that the people have a right to know who is doing what with their tax money and why. That exception — can you stand the surprise? — is the good old progressive Senate itself.

When the Senate voted the other day on a reform proposal to make all its committee meetings open to the public unless the committee involved voted to close it, the secrecy forces won. Their margin of nine votes (47-38) included the leaders and whips of both parties, such staunch defenders of the public right to know as Sen. Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and Sen. Robert Griffin, R-Mich.

The assistant Democratic leader, Robert C. Byrd of West Virginia, pompously opposing the reform, said that "to tamper with the rules of the Senate is to tamper with the Senate itself." This henious possibility, he implied, would be equivalent to wanting to make the sky purple or conspiring to cut the wings off all the butterflies.

The only rational objection Byrd offered was that opening up all meetings would inspire our distinguished senators to "grandstanding." That is, they would tend to emit grand and gross sound and fury, legislating nothing.

This might well happen at the outset (although those senators who attend the open meetings that do exist often seem to have trouble staying awake, let alone doing any worthwhile performing).

But it ought to become rapidly clear, even to a senator, that the grandstanding would have to end if anything were to be accomplished. And if nothing were accomplished with the whole country, more or less, looking on, then perhaps those senators would not be senators for very long.

But, softly. Could this be in fact what the Senate fears?

That the public will find out how their system really operates and, and a fit of righteous indignation, throw the rascals out?

For the burning question remains, what do they have to hide? Short of disclosing military secrets, is there anything Senate committees would do by opening their meetings that would harm the country?

Can anyone be blamed for assuming that what the legislators are really worried about disclosing is the less-than- civics - book - pure system of compromise and clout by which the government is run?

The same dogmatic presumption of the need for secrecy keeps diplomatic meetings closed. It keeps labor-management collective bargaining sessions closed. And it helps keep things in general in something less than Utopian condition.

The leaders who say that they need secrecy to negotiate in all these areas are being arrogant, if not dishonest. The people whose lives are affected by decisions made behind closed doors have a right to know exactly how those decisions are made and why.

When the U. S. House of Representatives, of all people, can move to open all its meetings unless committee members vote against doing so, the Senate should be ashamed and should be rebuked - for refusing to do so.

As Sen. Adlai E. Stevenson III, D-Ill., one of the reform supporters, said, "Excessive secrecy breeds distrust. It prevents accountability. It does violence to the principle of government based on the informed consent of the governed."

GOV. REAGAN URGES INDUSTRY TO TELL ITS STORY TO PUBLIC

Industry must tell its story again and must get more involved in the process of government, Gov. Ronald Reagan of California told industrial leaders, at the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers held in New York.

"Don't risk having some day to face your children and your children's children when they ask you where you were and what you were doing on the day that freedom was lost," the governor challenged the audience.

Industry has a great story to tell, Gov. Reagan said, but he questioned whether the businessmen really knew its full extent. For example:

. Life expectancy has increased tremendously, thanks to medical research financed largely by free enterprise profits.

. Ninety- six per cent of the homes in America have television and telephones.

. Fifty years ago 90 per cent of the people lived in what was considered below the poverty line; today, thanks to free enterprise, the figure has been cut in a single lifetime to less than 10 per cent.

"If our sons and daughters say this is proof that we have a materialistic society," the Governor continued, "Maybe we should tell them that over the next three years you will spend $18 billion on environmental projects; that, of this generation of young Americans, a greater number of them will go to college than the young people in all of the rest of the world because of scholarships and endowments that you support; and that they will live longer and be exposed to more cultural refinements than any generation that ever lived."

He told the story of a youth in sandals and jeans who complainted that parents can't understand the younger generation because they didn't grow up in a world with instant electronic communications, jet travel, nuclear power, cybernetics and computers.

"And that is true," Gov. Reagan said. "When we were growing up we didn't have those things — we invented them."

"It is time for business to start presenting the facts, because the facts are on your side. Tell the people, and especially your customers and your employes — and tell our sons and daughters."

Government does have legitimate functions, he said, but it performs them better when it has participation that is more than just a campaign contribution."

He emphasized:

"The simple fact is that politics is too important to be left to the politicians."

The governor explained that he was suggesting what an old-world aristocracy recognized as a responsibility which accompanied the privilege, and that was noblesse oblige.

"In America our aristocracy is by virtue of accomplishment and noblesse oblige is not unknown to us. We may not have used the term, but in times of emergency and danger our people have risen to the occasion. We have won our wars with citizen soldiers and dollar- a - year men. No government can match or afford the genius and the talent that is available in the private sector. And our nation cannot afford to have that manpower uninvolved."

DESERVED RECOGNITION

President Nixon, in an Address to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, commented on the attitude of youth toward business. He observed, "Everyone ... has heard some young person — perhaps even his own son — say something like this: 'I don't want to go into business. That nine- to - five rat race is not for me. I want to do something to help people'." The President then added, "The simple truth is this: No government agency, no philanthropy, no voluntary organization or foundation has done as much to help people as the private enterprise system."

The President's timely remarks are highly welcome as the Santa Paula, California, Daily Chronicle says editorially, "Seldom has a government leader given the private enterprise system its just due. Not only does it keep all who want it at work and receiving regular paychecks, health insurance, pension and other benefits, it continuously donates large sums to charities and provides leadership and funds for civic enterprises. It gives incentives to men and women to work, to improve themselves, their homes, their families and their environment. It pays the large part of the taxes which maintain this great nation and its people."

PET LOVERS

"I simply gotta divorce this woman," the disconsolate man explained to the court. "She insisted upon keeping a pet goat in our bedroom. The smell got so terrible I just couldn't stand it any longer."

"What?" cried the husband, "and let all of my pigeons get away?"

THE BIGGEST SPENDER

IN WASHINGTON

One of the greatest challenges facing our lawmakers in Washington is bringing federal spending under control. The number one target should be the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW), now the biggest spender in the sprawling federal government.

HEW will spend an estimated $93.8 billion in fiscal year 1974, a substantial increase over fiscal 1973. Much of this money goes for programs which should be handled by local government.

Substantial cuts should also be made in HEW Expenditures which have nothing whatever to do with aiding the needy. HEW is spending approximately $36.2 million per year on self- serving publicity. Although CBS television presented a major program, "The Selling of the Pentagon," condemning public relations by the Defense Department, not one word is said in the media about HEWs publicity budget, which is $10.6 million higher than that of Defense.

Another area which cries out for spending cuts in HEW staff salaries, which are increasing out of all proportion to any work accomplished. Wisconsin Congressman Les Aspin, normally known as a proponent of HEW, has roundly attacked its tendency to promote an excessive number of staff members into higher paying positions.

According to Congressman Aspin, the number of GS- 13 to 15 officials in HEW has increased from 3,300 in 1962 to 13,000 this year. In the last decade, the number of HEW bureaucrats earning more than $31,000 per year has risen from 84 to 414. No honest observer can claim that the taxpayer is getting his money's worth from HEW. This waste of taxpayers' money by HEW bureaucrats must cease. HLH

Rule By Troops:
Nixon Prober Herman Talmadge Has Tough Racist Record

WASHINGTON-- There are those in these United States who believe that Sam Ervin's senatorial committee is politically lynching President Nixon--- and that the punishment is overkill to fit the obvious crimes of former White House staff men.

It is therefore reasonable to examine some of the alleged lynchers. At least, they should be pure in heart and politics themselves. There is among them, for example, Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia. It ill behooves him to be one of those who say that Dick Nixon is in contempt of the committee and to call on the courts to discipline the President and force him to yield to the people.

Sen. Talmadge himself defied the courts and laws of the good state of Georgia for 63 days early in 1947.

Sen. Talmadge, with the aid of state troopers, seized the state capitol and gubernatorial chair--- and ordered those legally entitled to run the executive mansion to get out or there would be force and violence. Those were the words: "force and violence."

Sen. Talmadge, though illegally named governor by a white- supremacist, brutally anti- black state assembly, had received only 675 write- in votes for the governorship.

When challenged by the legally incumbent governor, Ellis Arnall, Talmadge sent his state troopers, armed men, to Arnall. The sergeant in charge, J. Frank Jones, reportedly informed Arnall that he had been instructed to use force if necessary to keep him (Arnall) out. The latter asked the officer, "You mean you will resort to force and violence?" Retorted the sergeant, according to the record: "Those are my orders."

With the men were throngs of ruffians backing Talmadge. They beat the hell out of a very young newsman covering the putsch.

That was on Jan. 16, 1947. Just about the era Dick Nixon was moving into politics. Just about the time he was in the years of congressional election campaigning for which he has been criticized and which criticism has been kept alive. Just about the eve of the Alger Hiss probe. So if that era is pertinent history in today's saga, so is the story of one of seven probing Senators.

At that time Herman Talmadge was a rough, tough white supremacist. During his 63- day stay as governor--- illegally--- he defied the courts, ignored injunctive action and attacked the Democratic party's centrists and pro-Truman bloc.

As "governor" he signed the anti- black white- only primary bill, later vetoed by his successor.

As a leader of his faction he attacked the opposition for opening the party to all. He charged his opponents with seeking to organize a "white and black zebra Democratic party."

Talmadge called himself and his supporters "the true white Democrats of Georgia."

His chief spokesman at the time said of Talmadge's opponent, the then Gov. Thompson, that the latter would "find out that the party has leadership--- vigorous leadership and white leadership."

Finally on March 19, 1947--- after 63 days--- the Georgia state Supreme Court deposed Herman Talmadge. In a 9,500-word document the majority ruling denied Herman Talmadge's contention that the court did not have jurisdiction in the case. Unlike today, at that time Sen. Talmadge opposed the courts and supported the separation of powers theory.

But "Gov." Talmadge left the mansion swiftly. His legal successor, whom he had kept out originally by use of arms and the threat by troopers of force and violence, was sworn in.

Then the Talmadge forces reorganized their party along racial lines. In 51 counties "Talmadge White Primary Clubs" were organized. Application cards were printed--- right out of the last century. They said:

"My political disposition is that of an aroused white citizen of Georgia, which means that I breathe no ill winds of hatred against any race, color or religious creed but believe that the rule of our government should be left entirely in the hands of white citizens. I agree to uplift the Negro, to be of all general assistance to him that I can, but never to permit him to vote or to elect his color to our public offices in this state, unless by law I am forced to do so."

Herman Talmadge, like Dick Nixon, went on to higher office. Talmadge finally was elected governor and in 1957 made it to the U. S. Senate. Now he is one of the seven probers who make up the Select Committee on Presidential Campaign Activities.

Back then when Herman Talmadge used state troopers to seize the government of Georgia and said he now controls it, when he campaigned on a white- only platform, when he thought Harry Truman was somewhere left of Marx and Engels, and when he defied the courts, he was 33 years old. Just about the age of some of the greedy conspirators taking the witness chair in front of him. I believe many of those who have testified are cheap heisters. They erred.

But it has been said, "He that is without sin among you, let him first cast a stone."

Or perhaps it would be better to say to the select committee--- look homeward, angels. Politics is a dirty business. You put on your boots when you go into it. But a political lynching won't cleanse it.

Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Jack Anderson

JACK ANDERSON SAYS:
The Great Grain Robbery

WASHINGTON-- The Soviets not only out- traded American grain dealers last year but may have helped to finance the 400- million-bushel purchase by manipulating the U. S. commodity market.

This possibility has got Sen. Henry Jackson, D- Wash., digging through commodity records in search of evidence which may reveal just how badly the Communists beat the capitalists at their own game.

Jackson suspects the Soviets used European companies as fronts to trade in wheat futures. Since the Soviets alone knew how massive their U. S. grain purchases would be, they could have used this inside knowledge to speculate on the commodity market.

Jackson believes this is exactly what the Soviets did through dummy companies. They could have squeezed millions out of U. S. investors, then used the proceeds to help pay for the grain.

As Jackson has pieced together the story, here's how the Soviets skinned the American grain operators:

First, the Kremlin sent hordes of bright young men to study the American commodity market. They developed a remarkable understanding of how the market operates, then they began making piecemeal purchases.

The American grain dealers, not knowing that the Soviets would wind up buying just about all the grain on the commercial market, bid against one another. Thus the Soviets got bargain deals before the Americans realized they could have made the same sales without price cutting.

Jackson believes the Soviets also knew their $660 million purchase would drive up the price of wheat futures. He is convinced, therefore, that they invested heavily in wheat futures before other investors realized what was happening.

Every dollar that the Russians squeezed out of the American grain companies, of course, has been passed on to the consumers. This has led to higher prices for bread, poultry, pork and beef.

Some insiders ruefully refer to the Soviet grain deal as the Great Grain Robbery. But as usual in such affairs, it was the U. S. consumers who were robbed.

WHITE HOUSE EXTRAVAGANCE: President Nixon has slashed funds to build homes for the needy and to provide air conditioning for hospitalized veterans. But he has squandered the taxpayers' money to renovate his own homes at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla.

Now we have obtained internal government documents which show his aides, too, have dipped freely into the public till to fix up their White House offices. The fanciest refurbishing job, ironically, was ordered for the chief fund- slasher himself, budget boss Roy Ash.

A General Services Administration memo, never meant to be read outside the government lists the following "projects in the White House area":

-- GSA installed "new panelling, cove lighting and built- in cabinetry" for Ash's offices on the second floor of the White House. The "total estimated construction cost for these offices," states the memo, "is $21,500."

-- The offices of presidential counselor Anne Armstrong were refurbished at a cost of $3,500. The project included "the installation of new cove lighting."

-- Cove lighting and other renovations for "the offices of Mr. John Ehrlichman" cost the taxpayers an estimated $8,500. But the unhappy Ehrlichman, caught in the Watergate web, is no longer around to enjoy his new lighting.

-- The White House offices of Treasury Secretary George Shultz now contain $4,100 worth of "built- in cabinetry and cove lighting."

-- In the Executive Office Building across the parking lot from the White House, the GSA spent $6,800 for "alterations and built- in cabinetry" for the office of Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Caspar Weinberger, another $4,000 to fix up the office of presidential adviser Peter Flanigan and $1,000 for improving the office of Housing and Urban Development Secretary James Lynn.

White House aides may also get an expensive new reading room. Presidential assistant Bruce Kehrli has asked the GSA, according to the memo, to conduct a "feasibility study" for the "general upgrading and conversion of the Old State Library to a new White House Library. This project will include new central air conditioning, new lighting, and new reading and librarian areas. The total estimated construction cost for this project is $275,000. This project is currently on a 'hold' status at the instructions of Mr. Kehrli."

Meanwhile, there are a lot of sick and disabled veterans, sweltering in their hospital rooms, who would like some air conditioning, too.

Watts bound over on forgery charge

CHARLESTON– Jesse Clyde Watts of Charleston was bound over to circuit court following a preliminary hearing Thursday before Magistrate T. J. Brown Jr. on a felony charge of forgery, counterfeiting and passing a falsely made check.

Watts is accused of attempting to pass a $150 Dicon, Inc. check with the forged name of Bill Kees at the First Security State Bank in Charleston on July 6.

Layton Pickard, executive officer of the bank, identified the check which Watts is accused of trying to cash at the drive- in window of the bank. According to Pickard, the bank had been notified by Dicon, Inc. that a series of their checks had been stolen.

Pickard and Rowe Powell, a cashier of the bank, both testified that Watts looked like the man who attempted to pass the check, but neither could positively identify him since he was dressed differently.

Miss Ruth Ann Coleman testified Watts came to her home on July 5 and that at that time she filled in the Dicon, Inc. check and signed Bill Kees' name. However, she denied knowing that Watts intended cashing the check.

Bond for Watts, who is scheduled to appear Aug. 14 in Circuit Court, was set at $1,000.

A charge of improper registration by failure to transfer against Joe Garrett of Charleston was dismissed by the state and costs were certified to the county.

In an account suit brought by Goldsmith Clothing Co. against Leonard and Demitra Braden, trial date was set for Aug. 16.

Other cases in Magistrate Court this week included: Louis Howard Williams, speeding, $36; Perry David Hutcheson, failure to exercise care, $31; Ann R. Staffs, operating a vehicle without an operator's license, and improper registration, $36; and Bobby G. Jones, speeding, $46.

Ann Landers

Ann says housework second only to career

Dear Ann Landers: What does a man really want in a woman? What do they go for? You're the expert. Please tell me.

I grew up thinking every man wants to feel he is in command--- that the woman who builds him up and makes him look good would surely be his choice. I worked overtime being ultrafeminine so he would feel super- masculine. But I figured it wrong. Dead wrong.

This morning the crudest, loudest-mouthed broad in the office showed up with a diamond the size of a tennis ball. "Edward and I are going to be married in September," she bellowed. (Even her voice is like a drill sergeant's.) She's loud, bossy, domineering, never lets a guy finish a sentence and butts in on everybody. Her persoanlity is thoroughly obnoxious. Yet SHE snagged a man--- and he's rich, too--- while five girls in this office who have it over her like a tent can't get a nibble. I am really depressed. And so are several other "unclaimed jewels," as you call them. How about an explanation?--- Green Around The Gills

Dear Green: Never mind the ring. Write to me when you see the guy.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife keeps telling me she hates housework. I asked her how she knows. She hasn't done any for years.

We had an argument about it again last night and she made several interesting statements. First she claims any dumbbell can clean house. She would rather do something creative. Next she says housework is demeaning because most men are slobs and they expect their wives to clean up after them. Then she says that you, Ann Landers, have no right to give advice on this subject because you have household help and are therefore automatically disqualified. How about it? Do you have the courage to answer this letter in the paper? We'll see.--- Battle Fatigue In Elk Grove

Dear Elk: Your wife is right. I do have help, but I did plenty of housework during the first 15 years of my marriage--- and I mean washing, ironing, floor-scrubbing, furniture- polishing and cooking.

And you can also tell her that my house looked pretty good, my husband's shirts had all the buttons, and nobody ever died from my cooking.

For the past 18 years I have produced 365 columns a year and lectured in hundreds of cities. If your wife is putting half as much energy into a career she should be excused from housework. If not, tell her to quit beefing and clean up her house.

Dear Ann Landers: You owe your readers an apology for saying, "All men are brothers in the family of God. This would make Al Capone a brother to Pope John." Well, I don't want Al Capone for a brother and I don't think you ought to give him to Pope John, either.

Some writers don't care what they say so long as they get paid for it.--- Fed Up With You

Dear Fed: The accurate wording was, "We are all brothers in the family of man." However, if you believe that God is the Father of all mankind you must then believe that all men are brothers. Even Al Capone and Pope John.

Dear Ann Landers: If a woman is walking with a man and his hairpiece flies off in a high wind, should she help him chase it? This is no joke.--- Chicago

Dear Chicago: Certainly. By that time they both know the score, so why be coy about it?

Board member defends faculty at Concordia

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A member of the Concordia Seminary's board of control said Thursday night the majority of the school's faculty and its president have been "grievously wronged" by the synod's action at its recent convention in New Orleans.

"I personally believe we will remain in this church until we are thrown out," said Dr. William A. Buege, one of four synod members who spoke at a public meeting at a junior college.

Conservative church members passed a number of resolutions at the convention, including a more strict interpretation of the Bible and a resolution condemning the Concordia faculty for allegedly teaching false doctrine.

The Rev. Samuel J. Roth pastor of a church in suburban Ferguson, said the convention was the end result of a plan begun four years ago by "ultraconservative forces."

THE BIBLE

No. 58. Keeping the Sabbath

When God caused the manna to fall from Heaven, He commanded Moses to inform the children of Israel that they were to gather only enough for each day's nourishment and that none was to be left for the next morning.

"Notwithstanding they hearkened not unto Moses; but some of them left of it until the morning, and it bred worms, and stank: and Moses was wroth with them."

Exodus 16:20

But on the sixth day they gathered twice as much bread and laid it up until the morning, and miraculously, it remained fresh. Moses told the children of Israel that they were to gather manna six days, but on the seventh day there would be no manna to gather so that the holy sabbath could be kept according to the Lord's instructions.

Nevertheless, some of the Israelites went out to gather food on the seventh day:

"And the Lord said unto Moses, How long refuse ye to keep my commandments and my laws? See, for that the Lord hath given you the sabbath, therefore he giveth you on the sixth day the bread of two days; abide ye every man in his place, let no man go out of his place on the seventh day. So the people rested on the seventh day."

Exodus 16:28-30

Thus, the children of Israel were instructed in keeping the sabbath. The manna from heaven sustained them for forty years until they came to the land of Canaan.

This week's Uniform INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON
By Dr. William H. Taft

FOR SUNDAY, JULY 29

Scripture: Exodus 20:16. 23: 1-3; Proverbs 19:9; Acts 5: 1-11; Ephesians 4:25-32; James 1:26, 3:1-12

Live The Truth

In an era involving the Watergate case, the Pentagon Papers dispute, and arguments over political issues, it is interesting to read, "You shall not bear false witness against your neighbor."

What is truth?

Plato said truth is that which is. It also has been said that truth is an immortal and eternal thing. Walt Whitman called it, "whatever satisfies the soul."

All human relations must be established on truth. We must be able to trust each other and be able to believe all others. The best compliment we can pay a friend is to have faith in him.

Truthfulness and personal integrity stem from respect for God, self, and fellow men. The integrity of judicial, governmental, and commercial systems demand truthfulness.

The ninth commandment prohibits perjury, giving false testimony in a court of law. There are other ways in which this commandment often is broken in today's society.

When we gossip about others we often tell lies, or imply untruths. And we are guilty when we fail to correct such gossip related by others.

Flattery may be a form of falsehood. This often follows some of the false character references we provide for our friends. Often we exaggerate some claims of statistics, conversations and reputations.

It can be a falsehood when we take Bible verses out of context. For example, some mountain folks will let snakes bite them to test their faith. When two ministers died in such tests recently it was not considered unusual by the congregation.

Other members of this tiny Tennessee group also planned to drink strychnine to test a passage from Mark that says, "if they drink any deadly thing it shall not hurt them."

In James we have another view: "If anyone thinks he is religious, and does not bridle his tongue but deceives his heart, this man's religion is vain."

Too often lies are the results of fear or of a distorted concept of values. Leo Tolstoy said, "Man discovers truth by reason only, not by faith." Yet faith might lead him to the search.

In Ephesians we read that truth is the basis of neighborly love. Paul advises us to "put away" falsehood. In other words, he hoped we would never lie again to anyone.

It can be expensive to be truthful under some circumstances. Henry D. Thoreau was outspoken against slavery at a time and in a locality where this wasn't the majority opinion. But Thoreau was truthful in his expressions.

It becomes a problem for doctors when they must tell a patient that he is dying. Is there only one way to express truth under these conditions?

Truth and love cannot exist in a world dominated by falsehood. The Scriptures tell us in many examples about the penalties from committing falsehoods.

Is it advisable always to tell the full truth?

An example of what happens in cases of half-truths is told in Acts. Ananias sold some property but sought to keep some of the money for himself, giving the rest to the apostles.

In this instance Ananias is guilty of hypocrisy. He died possibly from emotional shock although Luke views it as a miracle of God's judgement. A similar fate fell to Sapphira who falsified the financial situation.

We are urged to pray for those who resort to lying. To some it becomes a habit, a way of daily living. It is dangerous, however, to become too "preachy" here.

It is to our spiritual growth that we overcome all temptations toward lying. Christ said He was the truth.

Standard upset

Nunnelee charged from an early 10-2 deficit to upset the Musial League champion — Daily Standard team during quarterfinal round action of the city league tournament Thursday night, 12-10. Another pre-tournament favorite, Harts Bread, had to fight off a late game Little Paint and Drywall rally to preserve a 7-6 win.

Smith picked up the victory for Nunnelee in relief of Bickford, limiting the Daily Standard to only one hit during the final three innings of play.

Nunnelee jumped on the Daily Standard's reliefer for the win, scoring four runs in the fifth inning to break away from a 10-8 deficit.

Beaudean and Jackson slammed doubles for the victors while Moore connected for a double and triple to pace the Daily Standard's five hit attack.

Harts Bread almost ended up in the same boat at the Daily Standard as they built an early 6-0 lead to only see Little P & D charge back within one run of a tie and twoo of victory, posting a slim 7-6 advantage.

A fifth inning tally proved to be the deciding run as Little P & D scored three runs in the third and another three in the fifth to equal Harts early 6-0 lead.

Hurley picked up the win for Harts, who backed his effort with 10 hits, including extra base blasts by Hurley, Scott and Fraser.

Fabick, Ryan in title bout

Fabick took advantage of walks and numerous Bridger errors to move into the championship game of the American League city tournament Thursday night, romping to a 27- 7 four-inning triumph. Ryan will face the league champions after taking the police 11- 9.

Worth limited Bridger to two hits while his teammates garnered nine to back his effort. McDowell connected for Fabick's only extra base hit, slamming a double. White homered for Bridger.

Ryan rallied from a 6- 4 third inning deficit with seven runs in the final two innings to record the win for Williams and defeat the Western Division Champions.

Wood connected for a couple of homers for Ryan, one in the first inning to give them a brief 2- 0 lead and one in the sixth for three runs to give them their edge after going into the frame tied 6- all.

JEFFERSON CITY — Southeast Missouri's entry into the Jr. Babe Ruth state tournament, Tri- County, used strong pitching and torrid hitting again Thursday night to remain as one of the events two undefeated teams in the double elimination affair, romping to a 13-2 win behind the four- hit pitching of Keith Campbell of Oran.

Tri- County backed Campbell's pitching with 12 hits and broke open a 1-1 tie with six runs in the fourth and made a runaway of the game with five tallies in the sixth.

Lebannon took a 1-0 lead in the first, but Tri- County tied the score in the second before putting on its late game show of power.

Chris Burger and Campbell led Tri- County's 13 hit attack with three hits apiece. Campbell had a pair of doubles in with his totals and fanned six batters while walking four in the six inning contest.

Babb profits as Miami sub

By CARTER FLETCHER

MIAMI, Fla. — Charley Babb, former Charleston High School standout, says that he is quite satisified to be with the World's Champion Miami Dolphins even though he plays behind two Pro Bowl safeties. Babb, Miami's fifth round choice in the 1972 draft, said that his rookie year couldn't have been much better: "Going to a Super Bowl my first year meant $25,000 more ... I mean, look at George Blanda -- he's been around 20 something years and he's only been to one Super Bowl and didn't win that."

Last year, Babb was assigned duties on the special teams with an emphasis on blocking punts. It was Babb who blocked and scored with a Don Cockroft punt against Cleveland in the playoffs. "I guess that was the high point of the year for me ... We work pretty hard on blocking punts: Curtis Johnson, Lloyd Mumphord, and I try to take out the blockers so that at least one of us can get through. I just had a feeling that I could get to Cockroft." He went on to say, however, that he certainly would like to play more; this would make him feel a greater part of the team. He also feels that his reactions to game situations would get much better if he had more experience: "My reactions improved after only one year. With just a season behind me, I can tell a great deal of difference between myself and the rookies."

To the scoffers who say that Miami's undefeated season was due to a weak schedule, Charley says: "Anybody in this league can knock you off. Buffalo beat San Francisco and New England beat Washington." As to another undefeated season for the Dolphins, he says, "The odds were against us last year, and they are even more so this year." Charley feels certain of a playoff berth, however, and he looks for the same three teams -- Cleveland, Oakland, and Pittsburgh -- to oppose the Dolphins in their bid for a second straight Super Bowl title.

His outlook on playing in the NFL reflects the year he has behind him. "It's a job. It is a bit more exciting than some, but you have to look at it as a job. The fringe benefits are what keep a lot of veterans coming back: the camraderie, the traveling, the excitement." As to trade to another team, Charley says, "I like it very much in the Dolphin organization, and I have never asked to be traded. That is a part of the game, however, and I probably would have a better chance to play somewhere else."

Cards dealing

ST. LOUIS (AP) — "Everybody's contributing; everybody's doing something," said Ted Simmons, the catcher for baseball's rampaging St. Louis Cardinals.

And the words of the club's bard, a mere 23, were never better illustrated than during the Redbirds' 13-1, 2-1 sweep Thursday night of the New York Mets.

Help came from senior pitching star Bob Gibson, right fielder Bernie Carbo and finally from relief ace Diego Segui as the Cards increased their National League East lead to 1½ games.

"I've never played on a World Series team or even a division winner," observed Simmons, "but it seems to me these are the things you have to do to get there."

Gibson, a spry 37, took matters into his own hands with a grand slam homer, a run-scoring single and a six-hitter as the Cards overpowered the Mets with 19 hits in the opener.

In the nightcap Carbo's strong throws cut down two Mets runners and Segui, appearing in his 40th game, struck out aging but dangerous Willie Mays to save Alan Foster's seventh triumph.

"It was a super pitch, an almost unhittable pitch," Simmons said in awe of a Segui fork ball taken by Mays for the game's final out.

"We had him set up with inside fast balls and he could have driven one out, but he fouled it off. When the fork ball came on 2-2 he wasn't expecting it and he was pulverized."

Ahead of the ninth inning Foster and the Mets' Jerry Koosman locked in a duel dotted only by Carbo's Run-scoring double until Joe Torre homered off Harry Parker in the eighth.

Foster carried a 2-0 lead but escaped jams as Carbo threw out John Milner, trying for second after Ed Kranepool's long fly, and Cleon Jones, trying for third on a Kranepool single.

Foster left after Jones opened the ninth with his second hit, and reliever Al Hrabosky was touched for a Milner single before pinch-hitter Jim Beauchamp bounced out.

Jerry Grote's grounder against Segui scored Jones as Milner held second and the 42-year-old Mays, pinch-hitting for Bud Harrelson, was left gazing in his substitute role.

"The fork ball down is hard to hit," explained Segui, who registered his 13th save. "It started to go away from the plate and just came back in over."

"Mays couldn't argue, and he'd had his chance," said Simmons. "When that fork ball's over like that and at that spot, there's very little any hitter can do."

SPORTS

CLEVELAND (AP) — The first nationally sanctioned offshore power boat race in Lake Erie, the Kirby Classic, is scheduled to be held Saturday.

The boats are capable of speeds approaching 100 miles per hour and will follow a 218mile course beginning off Rocky River Park. c

MARTINSVILLE, Va. (AP) — Andrew Haley got his first hole-in-one at Lynwood Country Club this week, after playing golf most of his life.

He's only 7, and he's been playing since he was 2.

The younger son of club pro Wayne Haley hit a 5-iron and plunked it in the cup on the 120yard, par-3, 13th hole. His concession to his age—he plays from the ladies' tees. He carded a 50 for his nine-hole round.

He missed setting a world's record. The Guiness Book of Records reports that the youngest player to make a hole-inone was 6 years, 36 days old.

Security Nationals wins league title

Turnabout's fair play and in baseball, especially Little League, it is most enjoyable.

Such was the case last week for Security National Bank as they claimed the National League Pennant with a 3-2 victory over the Jaycees, who only 24 hours earlier had thwarted the Bank's bid for the city league tournament title.

The game was almost a carbon copy of the city tournament final, except for the eventual winner.

Security National took a 1-0 lead in the second inning and added two more runs in the fourth before entering the sixth inning with a 3-0 advantage. The Jaycees, who had rallied for a 3-2 decision the night before, put on another last ditch effort but fell one run short as the Bank held their composure while Jeff Young struck out a pinch hitter with a runner at third for the final out and the league title.

Young picked up the win, fanning eight batters and allowing six hits while Clinton Malcolm suffered the loss, fanning seven and allowing four hits.

Kenny Standridge scored two of Security's runs and drove in the other to lead the Bank's offensive department.

Malcomb doubled for the Jaycees lone extra base hit.

Ken Heim, Totem vice president, said arrangements are being made to revise the league schedule to permit the games.

Test tube babies aren't available

Dr. Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Dear Dr. Lamb — This is a very hard question to ask. I have asked different people and they all say to ask you. I had to have an operation so I can't have children. My husband and I are very much in love and would give anything to have one. We have heard that you could go to a hospital up north and have a test tube baby. Is this true? If so, please let us know how to get the information.

Dear Reader — No, you won't be able to go anywhere and have a test tube baby. It is true that an early fertilized egg and early development has been produced within a test tube as a laboratory procedure. No one has, however, carried the test tube baby to normal maturity. Many scientists feel that the experiments shouldn't even be done. I suspect it will be though since most things which can be done eventually are done.

Your basic problem is that you would like to have a baby, which is quite understandable. You didn't elaborate on what kind of an operation you've had, but if you're talking about having had an operation on your tubes, sometimes this can be reversed so that a woman can become pregnant. To find out anything about this you would need to see a good gynecologist, a specialist in women's problems. Of course, if you have had an operation because you couldn't have children for health reasons, then this wouldn't be helpful for you. The next best thing would be adoption.

Dear Dr. Lamb — Recently you discussed in your column about the value of high protein food.

About one year ago I discovered the value and importance of protein and now I am much better physically. I am an elderly man and now I find I can do more and harder work since I have switched to soybean cereals and wheat germ foods. I do not care for sweets of any kind now because I really never get hungry like I did before.

There is one thing that irks me, other people tell me the dangers of eating high protein food.

So, the question is, just how harmful is high protein food when used in generous portions?

Dear Reader — You are probably doing a lot better than many other older people who shift their diet to eating large amounts of sweets and disregard the proper intake of proteins. There are all kinds of proteins and I prefer to see people get their protein from a variety of sources. This should include lean meat, cereals, fish, poultry and fortified nonfat milk.

There is no danger in eating too many proteins as long as you are not eating too many calories and getting overweight. The only people who have a problem of this type are those who have serious liver or kidney disease. If you like your soybean cereals and wheat germ foods there isn't any reason why you shouldn't eat them and they probably are very good for you. I do hope however, that you are getting some lean meat and some fortified skim milk in your diet. You need calcium. You'll get some in soybeans but it's hard for most people to get sufficient calcium unless they are including an adequate amount of milk products such as fortified nonfat milk or uncreamed cottage cheese in sufficient quantities in their diet.

Excess amounts of proteins are converted by the liver to carbohydrates. In the process the nitrogen that makes the chemical compound a protein is simply stripped off and eliminated in the urine.

What's the Law?

The case of the costly mink

By Jack Strauss, LL.B.

For years, Norman was able to convince his wife that economy should begin at home. Consequently, while he maintained a charge account for her at a department store, she used it very frugally to buy only necessities like shoes, gloves, dresses, etc. Nothing extravagant.

But one day she looked in a mirror and, seeing that she wasn't getting any younger, she decided it wasn't very smart to make the most of life after most of it was gone. She bought herself a $10,000 blue mink coat on the charge account.

Insisting that he wasn't Fort Knox, Norman doggedly insisted that the coat had to be returned. His wife, however, clung to it like it was a winning Irish Sweepstakes ticket and refused, absolutely, to part with it. The result? Norman refused to pay for the mink and the department store sued him for its $10,000 price tag.

"I opened the charge account for usual and ordinary purchases," insisted Norman is court, "And not for the purchase of a wallet- deflating mink coat. Before selling my wife such an expensive item, the department store should have checked with me first."

"Why?" queried the attorney for the department store. "There was no limit on the account and Norman's wife was authorized to use it. Controlling his wife's buying habits was Norman's problem, not ours."

IF YOU WERE THE JUDGE, would you make Norman pay for the costly mink?

This is how the judge ruled: YES! The judge held that a person who has a charge account is responsible for all purchases by those authorized to buy on the account prior to cancellation or withdrawal of the authority. Since Norman's account had no limit, concluded the judge, and since his wife had the authority to use it, Norman was required to pay for the mink.

Mansion redecorating expenses questioned

JEFFERSON CITY — Purchase without bids of $71 per yard wall covering, payment of $30 per hour for "design work" and additional materials for the governor's mansion have been question by Will W. Davis, executive director of the Missouri State Democratic Committee.

Speaking in Columbia and Sedalia, Davis also said payment to a St. Louis decorator of "driving expense" at 12 cents a mile was two cents more than the regulation rate paid state employes, "who do not make $30 hourly."

The executive director of the State Department Party questioned whether any mileage expense can be paid to a person not an employe of the state, and he said the total paid to Mrs. Fothergill Graves of 9312 Manchester Road, St. Louis, was $2,032.92 -- $1,590 for design time, $88.56 for 738 miles "driving expense," $354.36 for "window covering" -- all approved without bids by the director of the Division of Design and Construction, John Cooper, and Gov. Bond.

Davis said the purchase March 23, 1973, without bids of 9.85 yards -- less than 10 yards -- of what the director of Design and Construction later identified as blue felt wall covering for Bond's office at the Executive Mansion, cost $699.23 -- a few cents less than $71 per yard.

"There are several other expensive -- to the taxpayers, that is -- purchases of wall covering in addition to this one, leaving an average citizen wondering if a bare wall is left in the mansion," Davis said.

"This is not to disparage the value of the lady's services," Davis told listeners at the annaul picnic of the Pettis Country Women's Club and Young Democrats at Sedalia and, earlier, a meeting of Boone County Democrats at Columbia.

"I do question the propriety of her selection without consideration of other talent, perhaps as great, materials of equal quality ... and reimbursement of expenses at a higher rate than that allowed state employes who are not paid anywhere near $30 per hour ..."

Infant deaths under study

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A study of 500 cases of Sudden Infant Death indicates death appears to occur from complete upper airway obstruction during sleep, says Dr. Abraham B. Bergman, president of the National Foundation for Sudden Ifant Death.

Writing on "Sudden Infant Death Syndrome" (SIDS) in the July issue of American Family Physician magazine, just released here, Dr. Bergman says factors which trigger the airway obstruction include minor, usually viral, inflammatory disease of the upper respiratory tract.

The disease strikes 7,500 to 10,000 infants each year.

Dr. Bergman, on the staff of Children's Orthopedic Hospital and Medical Center, Seattle, Wash., says the family must be reassured that the death was in no way their fault or that of any one else.

"Guilt is almost inevitable and universal" following Sudden Infant Death, Dr. Bergman writes. Since the law is concerned with sudden deaths, he adds, the physician must be ready to stand behind the parents who might be callously questioned. To strengthened the doctor's word and comfort the family, an autopsy should be ordered at once.

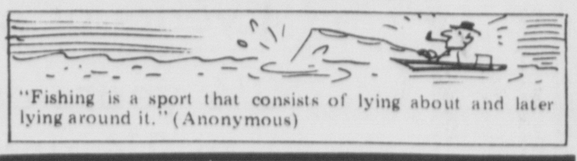

The National Foundation for Sudden Infant Death, with headquarters in New York, has more than 40 chapters across the nation to provide information to families and physicians concerning the phenomenon.

Key witness fails to testify

CARUTHERSVILLE — A bombshell fell in Pemiscot County Magistrate Court Tuesday afternoon when the prosecutor's key witness failed to testify in the preliminary hearing of Eddie and Leon Orr, both charged with first degree robbery and murder.

The Orr brothers are accused of robbing the Holland Raceway Service Station of $129.84 April 5 and of killing the gas station attendant, 19-year - old Robert Wayne Fisk. Howard Coleman, 19, also allegedly involved in the March and April Interstate 55 spree of robberies and killings, was the state's last witness. Promptly after swearing to tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, Coleman pointed to Highway Patrolman Herbert Campbell and said "he kicked me" on the way over to court from the county jail.

At first, Coleman said that was the only reason he wasn't going to testify but then added that he didn't want to incriminate himself. Coleman previously had an understanding with Prosecuting Attorney Art Stephenson that, in return for testimony against the Orr brothers, the charge against Coleman would only be robbery.

After court adjourned, Stephenson said he didn't believe Coleman realized what he was doing. "Now I'm going to file murder one against Coleman as well as robbery," the prosecutor said.

When Coleman told the court he didn't want to testify, Stephenson asked to question Coleman as an adverse witness based on surprise. This plea was objected to and upheld by Judge Sidney Chaffin. Stephenson then asked for a continuance and this was granted.

Prior to Coleman's surprise statement, three witnesses testified before the court. They were Deputy Sheriff Charles Kelley, Highway Patrolman Joe Moore, and County Coroner James Dean.

Kelley testified he received the telephone call of a disturbance at the Holland gas station at 12:55 a.m. April 5. He said a truck driver from Michigan had stopped at the station, noticed there was no attendant, and called the Blytheville Police Department, who then notified the Pemiscot County Sheriff's Office.

The truck driver has been identified as Doyle Scates of Benton Harbor, Mich.

At the station, Kelley said, was a soda bottle knocked to the floor and a waste basket overturned. He said there was an empty cash drawer on the counter inside the station.

Kelley said that after contacting Fisk, the owner of the station, and learning that Fisk's son, Robert, was on duty, a search was started for the boy.

The search ended at 5 a.m. without the boy being found, Kelly said. He testified that an hour later he got a call that a farmer, John Smith of Cooter, had found the body.

Kelley also testified that a gun, a .38 calibre pistol, was missing from the station.

Trooper Joe Moore told the court that he was notified at 6:30 a.m. April 5 to go to the Holland- Cooter overpass. He said he responded to the call and went to a spot about a mile east from the turnoff on Route D. At that spot the body was found, he said.

Moore said the body was lying face down with arms spread out on the south side of Route D in a ditch 15 feet from the road. He said he checked the body and found no presence of life.

"There was a wound in the left back and back of the neck," he testified. "I saw brain and skull fragments scattered around. After the body was rolled over, I observed that the upper part of the face had a big gaping wound. Most of the face blown away."

The trooper also said an empty cartridge for a 30-30 rifle was found about three feet from the body. He said he also found a spent bullet under the body and a pair of sunglasses nearby.

Asked if he thought he knew how the shooting occurred, the trooper replied:

"Yes. I believe he was standing up when he was shot first in the back of the head. He then fell forward. Then a second shot was made, striking him in the left back.

Pemiscot County Coroner James Dean testified that he believed the gunshot wound in the back of the head "was the immediate cause of death". He said both wounds entered the back of the body and exited through the front of the body.

He said it was upon his recommendation that an autopsy was performed by Dr. Pin H. Pu of Kennett.

Dean also identified four photographs taken of the dead boy at the scene by a highway patrolman.

Workers reject contract

CAIRO — Members of Local 1076, International Association of Machinists and Aerospace Workers Thursday rejected for the third time a company offer to end the strike of Cairo's Burkart facility.

The vote, which came about noon today, was 212 for rejecting the company's latest offer and 85 for accepting the new proposal.

This was the third general membership vote since the strike began seven weeks ago.

ANGELS used to dance on the head of a pin for medieval theologians but an electronic age has to settle for something more functional, such as a solid state infrared lamp balanced on the business end of a match. Only 1/ 20th inch in diameter, the G.E. minilight is used in computers, high-speed counting devices and photo-sensing devices which read price tags at checkout counters.

Ostriches can run at speeds up to 37 miles per hour and have been known to kill men and even horses with blows from their sharp toes.
